HE STOOD UP FOR DEMOCRACY NOW HE'S IMPRISONED

OWEN CHOW

HONG KONG

Owen Chow joined his first pro-democracy protest at just 15 years old. He later became one of the "HK47" – a group of activists and politicians prosecuted under Hong Kong's draconian National Security Law for their political participation.

Owen should be doing the things he loves like photography, hiking and travelling. Instead, he faces more than 12 years in prison for hoping to serve the underprivileged and build a fairer society.

Call on Hong Kong authorities to immediately and unconditionally release Owen Chow.
